

U KNEAD MASSAGE
www.ukneadmassage.com

REWARD AND RE-ENERGIZE YOUR HARDWORKING STAFF

Tax season is here again and your team is hard at work preparing returns. Their necks and shoulders ache from long hours at their desks. Tension headaches pound from the stress of deadlines.

You need them to work harder and they need a break. Well, there is a solution: On-site seated massage.

According to Elizabeth Thorsen, an expert in stress management at the University of Toronto, "Techniques such as massage can help break the pattern of stress, energize the person and provide immeasurable relief."

What exactly is on-site seated massage?

It's a short massage routine performed over clothing by a licensed massage therapist in a specialized chair that is brought right to your office. It takes no longer than a coffee break and won't interfere with your staff's work. They come back from their massage break revived and ready to tackle the rest of the day.

Setting up the service is quick and simple. All that's needed is a small space for the massage chair. It's inexpensive and the costs are easily covered by the gains in output and morale.

You might be thinking, "I can't bring massage into our office. We're a respectable, conservative business." Those were the exact thoughts of many of our customers. They were apprehensive about its implementation until they saw how well it worked in their companies. Seated massage is used by companies with stellar reputations. Companies like IBM, Rockwell, EBay, American Express, Lockheed Martin and Dell, just to name a few.

As April approaches your workload goes through the roof and the demand for our services increases as well. So, call now to secure an appointment time for a FREE on-site demonstration and quote.

Yours Truly,

Helen Hodgson LMT
Director
U Knead Massage
323 993 6055

P.S. Tax season is here. You need your staff to work harder and they need a break. On-site seated massage is the solution now or as a reward after tax season.

Call 323 993 6055 right away for a FREE demonstration and quote.

Feel Great At Work!